

Green Building Field Verifier Training

August 2, 2008 • Myrtle Beach, SC

Green Building Field Verifier Training

South Carolina is the first state on the east coast to host the field verifier training course. This is a 3-hour training course covering the process required of an accredited verifier. The course is followed by a proctored test. Participants passing the test are provided with the additional information needed to be accredited and listed on www.nahbgreen.org.

Pre-Registration Required

The NAHB Research Center must verify your pre-requisite information before you are accepted into the class. You must first register online with the NAHB Research Center at www.nahbgreen.org/Certification or complete the attached form and fax it to (301) 430-6180, ATTN: Rita Knab. Then, register with the HBA of SC.

Registration for training is open only to individuals who meet the following pre-requisites:

- 1 year of acceptable* professional experience in home building and green building practices, -or-
- At least 12 hours of acceptable* green training, -or-
- A designation by NAHB as a Green Building Professional, -or-
- Professional certification from Green Advantage, -or-
- NARI Green Building Certification from National Association of the Remodelers Industry (NARI), -or-
